Cruiser Birmingham - detailed in the original builder ' s plans, Conrad Waters. This is one of a series of books based around the original builder ' s plans of British warships, in this case the town class cruiser HMS Birmingham, a half sister of the more famous HMS Belfast.

These plans were working documents, but despite that are remarkably attractive colourful documents, produced with a great deal of care and attention.

HMS Birmingham was selected for the series because this famous interwar 'Town' class cruiser is unusually well documented.
Unusually, three separate sets of plans survive – as completed in 1937, as refitted in 1943, and as modernised in 1952 – which allows this novel form of anatomy to cover the whole of the ship's long career.

Wikipedia

Three of the four light cruisers of the Birmingham Class were completed in 1914, but Adelaide was completed in 1922. They were sometimes treated as the third sub-type of an encompassing "Town Class" which included the five earlier Bristol, four Weymouth, and six Chatham class as well as the following two Birkenhead class cruisers.
