Roberto Zucco by Bernard-Marie Koltès - Goodreads

Balanced, fluid and deeply dynamic, the director of the Comédie de Valence's vision for Roberto Zucco favours the collective experience: each and every voice of the choir can be heard, express its individuality and make a contribution to the theatrical experiment unfolding before our eyes, somewhere between elegance and mystery, discipline and inspiration.

Roberto Zucco. Bernard-Marie Koltès & Martin Crimp August 012 Chapter, Cardiff 9 to 19 July 2014. Share: August 012's inaugural production, last year, was a deservedly much-lauded, high-tech take on the eventful reign of the Emperor Caligula. In their latest show, the subject is a villain from more recent history. Roberto Succo killed his parents at the age of 19; completed a degree whilst ...
