Change begins with a decision. To move beyond that decision to positive life change requires discipline. In Discipline Strategy, Dr. Coomer translates the word DISCIPLINE into an acronym for a ten-step life change process. Don't be uncertain or confused for another day. You can become the hero of your own life's story. The DISCIPLINE STRATEGY® approach works for both business and personal challenges and will guide you from the point of decision to accomplishment. Dr. Coomer is a serial entrepreneur and personality researcher with a deep understanding of how personality impacts performance. To enhance your ability to implement the DISCIPLINE STRATEGY® process, this book includes a free comprehensive personality assessment. Many of today's self-help books offer a prescription for change but fail to provide an answer to your specific challenges. A better approach is to learn a process that supports genuine change and allows you to become your own customized expert. In this way, you'll learn to:
[] [DECIDE] Make sound decisions.
[] [INVESTIGATE] Investigate relevant topics.
[] [SORT] Sort through information with a critical eye.
[] [CONCEIVE] Conceive a detailed plan.
[] [IMPLEMENT] Implement the plan.
[] [PERSEVERE] Move forward with passion and perseverance.
[] [LOOP] Use a feedback loop to evaluate your progress and make adjustments where needed.
[] [INTENSIFY] Intensify your efforts where appropriate.
[] [NOTICE] Take notice of what you have accomplished.
[] [ENJOY] Enjoy the fruits of your labors using the positive psychology concept of PERMA. This is your roadmap for change, the ultimate guide to making a great decision, becoming your own guru, and accomplishing your goal.

What if you had a Framework to make better decisions at home and at work? And what if you could inspire and empower your children, students, clients, or anyone else you mentor with confidence to make better life decisions in an uncertain world? Written by a father and son, Daniel Friedland, MD and Zach Friedland, The Big Decision is a story about a teen boy who is faced with making a big decision - and about a gift his father gives him to help him make better decisions as he emerges into adulthood. In the first part of the book, Zach shares his story about how Ryan, an up and coming star running back for his middle school football team, is faced with a big decision. When he asks his parents for help, rather than telling him what to do, his father teaches him a framework to make his big decision for himself. In the second half of the book, written as a guide for parents, teachers, counselors, coaches and leaders, Dr. Daniel Friedland, one of the leading experts on how doctors are trained to make medical decisions, shares how you can use this 4-Step Framework to make better life decisions. He also shares the science behind how your brain works and how you can better work your brain to do so. Be inspired and empowered to make your big decisions. Think about with whom you'd want to read and discuss this book. Reading and sharing its lessons may well be one of the best decisions you'll ever make!

An expert explains how the conventional wisdom about decision making can get us into trouble—and why experience can't be replaced by rules, procedures, or analytical methods. In making decisions, when should we go with our gut and when should we try to analyze every option? When should we use our intuition and when should we rely on logic and statistics? Most of us would probably agree that for important decisions, we should follow certain guidelines—gather as much information as possible, compare the options, pin down the goals before getting started. But in practice we make some of our best decisions by adapting to circumstances rather than blindly following procedures. In Streetlights and Shadows, Gary Klein debunks the conventional wisdom about how to make decisions. He takes ten commonly accepted claims about decision making and shows that they are better suited for the laboratory than for life. The standard advice works well when everything is clear, but the tough decisions involve shadowy conditions of complexity and ambiguity. Gathering masses of information, for example, works if the information is accurate and complete—but that doesn't often happen in the real world. (Think about the careful risk calculations that led to the downfall of the Wall Street investment houses.) Klein offers more realistic ideas about how to make decisions in real-life settings. He provides many examples—ranging from airline pilots and weather forecasters to sports announcers and Captain Jack Aubrey in Patrick O'Brian's Master and Commander novels—to make his point. All these decision makers saw things that others didn't. They used their expertise to pick up cues and to discern patterns and trends. We can make better decisions, Klein tells us, if we are prepared for complexity and ambiguity and if we will stop expecting the data to tell us everything.
