The Austrian-English philosopher Karl Popper condemned historicism along with the determinism and holism which he argued formed its basis. In his The Poverty of Historicism, he identified historicism with the opinion that there are "inexorable laws of historical destiny", which opinion he warned against. If this seems to contrast with what proponents of historicism argue for, in terms of contextually relative interpretation, this happens, according to Popper, only because such proponents are ...

Historicism—Wikipedia

In "The Poverty of Historicism" he argues why the social sciences and in particular history cannot apply the scientific method. He argues that there is no fundamental consistency that means that we apply the lessons of the past, experiences, to predict the future as we can with science.
